CALIFORNIA ITEMS.

The Placer Herald, (Auburn, Placer county,) announces the "Births" with the marriages and deaths. This is an English custom that has never obtained much foothold in this country. We don't know why, either; in England the custom is almost universal. In the Times the column is facetiously called "hatches, matches and despatches."

—The Grass Valley Union says: "Day before yesterday, while Professor Wallace was talking to the crowd in front of the Exchange Hotel about horse-training, an individual who has great confidence in our local reporter, and who was wondering what so much of a crowd meant, asked our local, while he pointed to the Professor: "Him General Giant?" "No," replied the local, "why do you ask, John?" "Him allee time talkee hossee, allee same Giant," said Chinaman, who is well posted on American politics.

—We clip the following from the Los Angeles Republican: On Saturday last a grave was dug in the public cemetery of this city, for the interment of a colored boy who was to be buried the following day. Upon the arrival of the funeral procession at the grave on Sunday morning, it was found that it had been appropriated by other parties, and that a corpse was already buried in the grave. This, we take it, is something new in the way of stealing, and hard to beat.

—A correspondent of the Union writing from Lone Pine, July 11th, gives the following account of some strange monsters: The Owens Lake Monster has been seen once more. On the evening of July 2d, some time before the sun went down, two young men were riding along on horseback, on the west side of Owens Lake. They live in the valley and had heard the story of the Mexicans who saw something strange on the lake one night, but it was not generally believed. Both of these men had frequently scanned the surface of the lake, to verify the story, but neither of them had seen anything of the serpent until the night in question. On this occasion, they observed something unusual about a mile from shore. A huge animal was swimming rapidly along, throwing out waves on both sides. It went half a mile, then went below the surface a few moments; when it came up it started on the back track for a mile or so. Presently another of the monsters rose on his appearance, and they began to amuse themselves together as the monsters can—chasing and retreating, disappearing and coming up, and then making the lake boil like a pot. It was a sight worth seeing. They also say that they saw another toward the mouth of the river, but not at the same time the others were in view. Over half an hour before the sun went down, and some time after, these curious creatures continued to disport themselves, when the increasing darkness obliged the young men to strike out for Lone Pine. They describe the creature to be 100 feet long and over four feet in diameter, and of a grayish color. The names of the men are Frank Hilton, of Independence, and A. H. Johnson, of Lone Pine. The latter declares that he would not go out into the lake in a small boat for fifty dollars. The story of the Mexicans is as follows: As they were sleeping one night near the mouth of the river, they were suddenly awakened by a loud splashing and plunging in the water. On looking in that direction they saw a very large animal, upon which they took to their heels and did not stop (so the story goes) till a mountain top was reached. A more credible witness is Col. Stevens, superintendent of a mining company at Lone Pine. The Colonel saw the monster (sometime in June, we think,) and his description is substantially the same with regard to its length and color, as that given by Johnson and Hilton. Col. Stevens says he saw it throw water fifty feet high.

—The Colco (California) Courant, of July 10th, says: Last Monday evening a dark mass of clouds piled themselves in sombre threatening array above the eastern horizon, from which shot flashes and chains of lightning. At first the mass seemed to move from south to north, but, when opposite Colco, it appeared to halt, close up its line, and suddenly march toward the valley. As the mass moved forward the heavens were lighted up with a sickly phosphorescent glare; the roaring of the tornado was like the hoarse thunder of old ocean, mingled with the wailing of all the spirits of the infernal regions. It came on the wings of the whirlwind, went crashing through the town, twisting huge limbs from the giant oaks, and filling the air with twigs, branches and a cloud of dust that shut out the light. The first charge leveled the new addition to the Union hotel with the foundation, also a barn belonging to Isenbeck. Large trees were twisted off, while others were uprooted. The thermometer rose ten degrees in half an hour. The atmosphere was stifling as that from a furnace. It probably approached nearer a simoon of the great deserts than anything else. Charge after charge swept through the town and country, each vieing with its predecessor in force and terror. At half-past eight o'clock there was a quiet in the elements, though the air was stifling, and remained so during Tuesday. It was the worst tornado that ever visited this section of the State, and will be long remembered.

—The Sacramento Union of July 14th says: We were shown yesterday a specimen of the cocoons raised at the cocoonery of I. N. Hoag, in Yolo county, on the Sacramento river, some three miles above this city. The sample consisted of some two pounds, gathered from the brush in which the worms had deposited them, and a boquet or a collection of cocoons in the brush, showing them as spun. The cocoons appear and are said to be of very excellent quality, of a bright straw color and very hard and compact. They appear to be also of unusual size, averaging, as we are informed, some three hundred and twenty-five to the pound. The eggs were taken to the cocoonery on the first day of June, in a hatching condition, a part having been put to hatching a few days earlier than the rest. It was eight days before the feeding were all hatched. On the first day of July the first day's hatching began their cocoons, and on the eight day the last did the same and are now all done. We are informed by Hoag that the work of taking care of and feeding them has all been done by Chinamen, one of whom has followed the business for life, on his own account, in China. The success of the feed—and which, notwithstanding the unusually cold and unfavorable weather of the season, is unparalleled—is in a great measure attributed to the skill and management of this Chinaman. This cocoonery was supplied with stoves, and fire was built in them every night, from the hatching until the cocoons were finished, and the worms fed every hour, night and day. The eight hundred thousand worms consumed some twenty tons of leaves, and we are informed that the trees now contain much more foliage than when the feeding commenced; and that the eggs for another feeding are now in process of hatching.

—Letters and petitions to the President, urging him to pardon Dr. Mudd, one of the conspirators now undergoing sentence at the Dry Tortugas, have been received within a few days.

BY TELEGRAPH.

Noon Dispatches.

NEW YORK, August 27.—A clerk of an opposition manager served a writ of injunction upon Mr. Harkins, the actor, at the Broadway Theater, in the middle of a scene, thereby almost creating a riot. The play was, however, performed to the conclusion.

John Morrissey denies he has staked money against the Democratic candidates, and says he shall support the regular nominees.

Baron Chas. Von Liderr, the new Austrian Minister to this country, arrived in this city yesterday from Liverpool.

Telegraphic advices from St. Domingo are to the 20th. Baeze was organizing a large force, but they were in such a miserable condition that many of them were deserting.

A fire in a street had destroyed forty buildings. Gen. Ulysses Espalai was an independent candidate for President.

A rumor prevailed that Cabral and twenty leading Dominicans had been captured and shot, but it was not believed.

Hong Kong advices via London 26th, say, reports have reached here from the north that the Imperial troops have gained a great victory. The army of the rebels, who for several months menaced Pentzin, in the port of Pekin, while retiring towards the south, was overtaken by the Imperial forces, assisted by European officers and engineers. A great battle had taken place, in which the rebels were totally defeated and routed. There was great rejoicing in Pekin over the result.

GREENBRIAR WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, August 27.—Gen. Rosecrans' mission here is of a purely private, and not political, character. No formal interview has taken place between Gen. Rosecrans and the leading Southrons. According to his own statements, he comes of his own accord, and to satisfy himself, in a private manner, as to the tone and temper of the South; and expresses himself as gratified at the result of his observations. He has been invited by prominent men here to deliver an address, but declines.

At a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Central Railroad Company, convened here, a contract was made, with responsible parties, for the completion of a road from Covington to this point, by the first of May, 1869.

The State Convention of Virginia and West Virginia convenes here Friday next, for the purpose of contracting with responsible companies for constructing the Covington and Ohio Railroad. The Central Railroad Company will doubtless take the job.

WASHINGTON, August 27.—Attorney-General Evarts, in reply to a letter from a United States Marshal in Florida, requesting his opinion on the subject of military assistance, says: "While the law gives you power to command all the necessary military within your district, they are not exempt from obligations to obey, in common with all citizens you may summon in cases of necessity. You will be particular to observe that this high and responsible authority is given to the Marshal only in aid of his duty to execute throughout the district all precepts directed to him and issued under the authority of the United States; and only in case of necessity for this extraordinary aid, the military and all other persons obeying this summons of the Marshal will act in subordination and obedience to the civil officers. The Marshal, in whose aid for the execution of a process they are called, and only to the effect of securing its execution. The special duty and authority in the execution of a process issued to you, must not be confounded with the duty and authority of the suppression of disorder and the preserving of the peace, which, under our Government, belongs to the civil authorities of the States, and not to the civil authorities of the United States; nor is this special duty of the marshal in executing the processes issued to him to be confounded with the authority and the duty of the President of the United States in the specific cases of the Constitution, and under the regulations of the statutes to protect the States against domestic violence, or with his authority and duty, under force, in subduing combinations in resistance to the laws of the United States, for neither of these duties or authorities is shared by the subordinate government officers, except where the same may be specifically communicated to them by the President."

BRAZIL.

The Difficulty With the United States Minister.

From an Occasional Correspondent.

RIO JANEIRO, July 8.—I learn that the United States Minister has demanded, in connection with the refusal of Gen. Caxias to let our gunboat Wasp go up the Paraguay river for Mr. Washburn: First, an ample apology; second, a condemnation of the conduct of Caxias; third, free license for the Wasp to go up at once. Failing to comply with any or either of the above, I am led to believe that our Minister will at once demand his passports. The dispatch from him was handed in yesterday to this Government, but their reply is deferred till after the sailing of the English packet. Curiously enough, some people think that the action of our Minister will send up exchange, because there will be a prospect of peace much sooner. Exchange with us is firm at 17½ to 18d, and I firmly credit the statement that this Government is guaranteeing the banks against any loss they may sustain by maintaining the rate. Our Minister has just succeeded in bullying the Brazilian Government out of £14 000 sterling by threatening to stop relations with them if they did not pay at once for a very old claim, and this, too, without apparently any instructions from home. Now they offer Mr. Washburn a passage down in an iron-clad to the Wasp, but this is not sufficient—the Wasp must go up to him.

MEMPHIS APPEAL.

ALBERT PIKE & CO.

Vera Atque Honesta Dicere.

PERSONAL.

Capt. R. T. English, our Commercial and River Editor, left yesterday afternoon on the Louisville Railroad, for a flying trip northward, on business and pleasure. We commend him most cordially to our friends of the press in Louisville and elsewhere.

WAIT AND SEE.

We cannot complain that the Avalanche defends its own policy and that of the devotees of expediency in Arkansas. We acknowledge its courtesy to us, and postpone a reply to its article of yesterday until after the November election. We are quite willing to let Time be arbitrator and umpire between us. We can always afford to wait and see.

COUNTERFEIT COIN.

The Daily Bulletin, published in this city, of Wednesday, August 26th, has a broadside of extracts, real and pretended, from Democratic journals, arranged under the caption, "Democracy, The Creed of the mass of the Democratic party. Its doctrines and tendencies, as set forth by its most influential political organs and leading Statesmen."

Under this, we find these two paragraphs:

ITS INTENDED APPEAL TO ARMS.

"The people are persuaded that the war is still in existence, so far as rebels can continue it; that the triumph of Seymour and Blair would re-enslave the negro and re-establish Southern domination."—[Appeal, August 23.

Go on, boys; SWEAR TO MURDER NORTHERN HUNS! ARM YOURSELVES AND ORGANIZE, and be ready to respond promptly when called on, and fight bravely even if you get killed!—Memphis Appeal.

The first of these paragraphs is torn from its context, and so made to become a libel upon the APPEAL. The writer of the article from which it is torn was speaking of the erroneous impressions of the Northern people; and the use made of the paragraph by the Bulletin, is a deliberate and disgraceful fraud.

The second paragraph never appeared in the APPEAL. It is a rank forgery; and to impute it to the APPEAL is a lie.

TEST-OATHS AND THE FRANCHISE LAW IN TENNESSEE.

[No. 7.]

The Inquisition practiced upon the same system as Missouri and Tennessee; for the villainous practices of tyranny are the same in all ages. It, also, did not hold its prisoners to be innocent until they were proven guilty. It put them to the torture, to extract from them confession of their guilt. It racked the body, and wrenched the bones asunder, until the poor miserable crushed and shattered victims of its cruelty had hardly the semblance of haman beings, to relieve itself of the necessity of proving their guilt, and enable it, nevertheless, to punish it by the fires of the Auto da fe.

The modern Inquisition does not venture to resort to the rack, the iron boot, the pincers and the thumb screw, as it would like to do; and is perforce content with extracting by the tender of an oath which those acquitted, pardoned or still unconvicted cannot take, a confession of guilt, that it may punish the offence so confessed, according to the measure of its tender mercies.

It did not need an opinion of the Supreme Court of the United States to decide such a law void. Our modern courts weaken the authority of their decisions by over-much argument, and end by being no authority at all. The Supreme Court should have said, as a French Court would have done:

"WHEREAS, The Constitution of the State of Missouri undertakes to require a conclusion of guilt to be drawn from the refusal of a party to swear that he is innocent; and upon that conclusion requires him to be disfranchised:

CONSIDERING, That the Constitution of the United States does not permit a man to be deprived of life, liberty or property, except by the verdict of a jury, or by legal proceedings duly conducted, and in this it only follows Magna Charta; and a right to vote is a franchise and privilege, and therefore property:

ADJUDGED, That the Constitution of Missouri, in so far as it requires such oath, and imposes a penalty for refusal to take it, is null and void, against natural right and justice, and contrary to the Constitution, and, moreover, a law appropriate to be enacted by despotisms only."

The Supreme Court of Tennessee, in its shameful decision in the case of Ridley v. Sherbrook, had to resort to the broad proposition that the people of a State, possessing its sovereignty, may change, alter, abolish or reform their government at pleasure; and that, "this being so, it follows that they had a right to determine who should exercise the rights of suffrage."

That is, interpreting the language by the actual condition of things in the State, a bare majority of the People, in opposition to the Constitutional provisions, which embody and record the contract between the majority and minority, in regard to amendments, may call a Convention of the majority of the people who are of their side, and this Convention of the majority may empower a Legislature of the majority to take away from the whole minority, without assigning any cause or reason for it, the right to vote. It means that, in South Carolina, the negro popular majority may disfranchise all the white men of the State.

The Supreme Court of Tennessee had seen a newspaper report of the case of Cummings. Its opinion of the decision of the Supreme Court of the United States was like that of an opponent in argument on Greek particles, of Professor Porson. "Professor Porson," he said, when worsted and therefore angry, "I beg leave to tell you that my opinion of you is very contemptible." "I dare say," said the Professor; "I never knew you have an opinion that was not contemptible." The Supreme Court of Tennessee said that the Supreme Court of the United States had only held that where a citizen has an office, employment or calling, the State cannot deprive him of it by requiring an oath which he cannot take. But, it proceeded to say, "These are civil rights, and inalienable, and of which he cannot be deprived by the people of the State. But a political right stands upon a very different principle. It is a political privilege or grant that may be extended or recalled at the will of the sovereign power." Consequently, though pardoned, the State can still refuse him the right to vote, unless he will swear.

That is, we say again, the majority may at any time disfranchise the minority, even without any cause. In Tennessee, the minority of white men disfranchises the majority of white men, with the help of the negro; and, according to the Supreme Court of Tennessee, if the negroes are numerous enough, they may disfranchise their white allies, and take possession of the Government of the State, establishing here a second edition of Haiti.

Following the case of Cummings vs. The State of Missouri, is that of Ex parte Garland, 4 Wallace, 333, in which the question was as to the constitutionality of the act of Congress requiring a test-oath of attorneys in the Federal Court.

The Court held, as in the case of Cummings, that exclusion from any ordinary avocation of life for past conduct, is punishment for such conduct, and that the exaction of the oath is the mode invented for ascertaining the parties on whom the act is intended to operate, and therefore in the nature of a bill of pains and penalties, and within the constitutional prohibition of bills of attainder.

The Court also held that a pardon removes all penalties and disabilities that are consequences of the offence, restores the party to all his civil rights, and gives him a new credit and capacity, after which he is beyond the reach of punishment of any kind for that offence.

We hear it said that the Supreme Court of the United States has not decided that disqualification to vote is a punishment, nor that a test oath may not be required as a means of ascertaining that disqualification. Of course. That question has not been directly before the Court. But it is nevertheless virtually decided, if the argument and opinion of the Court applies as well to it as to the case before it. That is what we have to ascertain.

The counsel for Garland said, among other things:

"Dropping names and forms, and considering the substance of things, the President says, by his pardon, 'You shall not be precluded from practicing in the Supreme Court in consequence of your crime: I pardon you.' The act says: 'You shall never practice in the Supreme Court without taking an oath which will be perjury, and then, on conviction of that, that shall disqualify you."

What is the right of an attorney to practice in a Court? Mr. J. B. Henderson insisted that that alone was punishment, which took from a man life, liberty or property. Is that right, property? If so, is not the right to vote, property also?

The Supreme Court held that the attorneys of a Court are officers of it, holding their office during good behavior, and can only be deprived of it for misconduct ascertained and declared by the judgment of the Court, after opportunity to be heard has been afforded; that the right of an attorney to practice is,—they did not say property,—but a right, of which he cannot be arbitrarily deprived, but only by the judgment of the Court.

The right to vote is also, as we have shown, a right, to enforce which a party may appeal to the Courts, or, at least, he may there obtain damages against any who obstruct his exercise of the right.

The Matter of Dorsey, 7 Porter 293, was referred to, where the question was as to the constitutionality of an act of the Legislature of Alabama, requiring officers to swear that they never had been and never would be engaged in any duel. Counsel said of it:

"The report of the case occupies about two hundred pages, and is an able and elaborate discussion of this subject, and a full authority for the position we take in this case." It was there held:

1. That in that case the law prescribed a qualification for holding office, which an individual never could comply with, and that such act, as to him, was a disqualification.

2. That such disqualification was punishment.

3. That the retrospective part of the oath was unconstitutional.

4. That as part of the oath was unconstitutional, and the court could not separate it, the whole oath was unconstitutional, and the petitioner was entitled to be admitted without taking it.

Judge Goldthwaite, a most able and learned jurist, said, in that case:

"I have omitted any argument to show the disqualification from office or from the pursuits of a lawful avocation, is a punishment; that it is so, is too evident to require any illustration. Indeed, it may be questioned whether any ingenuity could devise any penalty which would operate more forcibly on society."

In Barker v. The People of New York, 3 Cowen 686, the Court said, "The disfranchisement of a citizen is not an unusual punishment; it was the consequence of treason, and of infamous crimes."

A right to enforce which there is no remedy, and for the violation whereof no redress, is no right. A right which a majority can arbitrarily take away, is no right. The Constitution of the State of Tennessee secured to all free white men over twenty-one years of age, the right to vote. No one doubts that this right might be forfeited by crime, if the law denounced such forfeiture as part of the punishment; and it is not possible for any one really to doubt that this forfeiture can only take effect upon conviction of the crime, by due process of law; that is, by lawful trial by a jury. That the majority may at pleasure disfranchise the minority, is an infamous doctrine. If it were so, the Democrats, when in power in Tennessee could arbitrarily have disfranchised every Whig in the State, either by direct divestiture of the franchise, or by requiring of the voter an oath that he had not voted the Whig ticket, or sympathized with the Whig party. For, it is claimed, this is not punishment of an offence, but simply to fix the qualifications of voters.

The counsel of Garland (Reverdy Johnson) said:

"What right has Congress to prescribe other qualifications than are found in the Constitution; and what is the limit of the power? Of course the power is conceded, to make perpetual or limited disqualification one of the penalties of crime, appying the act prospectively. Such was the act sustained in Barker vs. The People, before cited, but where does Congress get the power to disfranchise and disqualify any citizen, except as punishment for crime, whereof the party shall have been duly convicted."

And he said:

"If this act is constitutional, then there is no limit to the oaths that may be hereafter prescribed. The whole matter rests in the discretion of Congress. A law requiring every public officer to swear that he voted for a particular candidate at the last election, or leave his office, would be more wanton, but not less constitutional, than the one we are considering; for if it is in the constitutional power of Congress to require these disfranchising oaths to be taken, then Congress alone can determine their nature. There is no appeal from its determination of any matter within its constitutional province."

It is a sad thing that argument should have been necessary in so plain a case. What more was necesary to be said, than this?—

"Suppose murder or treason to have been in fact committed by a public officer, but that there is no witness to establish the fact. Can Congress pass a law requiring him, as a condition to his further continuance in office, to take an oath that he has not committed murder or treason? If so, all the consequences which can follow from conviction or impeachment, viz., incapacity to hold office, may be visited upon the guilty party, without indictment, trial or witnesses produced against him, and without any process of law whatever; and Congress may by ex-post facto laws brand the most trifling offence, or even a difference of political opinion, with total disqualification to hold office. Such rapid administration of justice might often reach a correct result, and disfranchise a guilty man, whose absence from office might not endanger the Republic; but the question is, is it a constitutional method of establishing and punishing guilt?"

So the use of torture to extort confession, by wrenching the bones asunder and dislocating the limbs, and crushing and maiming the body, "might often reach a correct result, and disfranchise a guilty man;" and it is not in the least degree worse than the torture of the conscience by test-oaths; the effect of which is to debauch and demoralize men of easy virtue, and bribe them to commit perjury by the promise to reward it.

NUPTIALS.

The following notice comes to us posthaste, in a Nashville journal:

MARRIED—At the residence of Jacob McGavock, Esq., Spruce street, on the 25th inst., by the Rev. Dr. Bunting, Hon. Connelly F. Trigg to Mrs. Serephina McGavock.

Upon which, our Nashville cotemporary rapturously exclaims, that never fairer bride, nor one around whom clustered virtues more inestimable, accepted the homage of truer and more chivalrous knight; that never manlier groom, upon whose brow nature has set the stamp of true nobility, was blessed with sweeter companionship.

Essaying a higher flight, our cotemporary cries, "With the heroism of true womanhood, Minerva hangs her glorious chapter upon the brow of the sworn Soldier of Justice, Right and the Truth, and around this hallowed union of hearts hovers the white-winged dove of peace." At least, if it does not say all that, it says something very like it.

No one here dreamed that that just Magistrate and honorable gentleman, Judge Trigg, proposed to invest himself in matrimony. He was supposed to affect no other mistress than the Law, and to be proof against all the arrows of the remorseless little archer, Cupid. Truly we said, recently, speaking of man's love of woman, "Age gives no exemption from that service."

He has done well. No one is more worthy of a true woman's love. No one will more loyally return it. We congratulate each: we wish each good fortune. Each deserves it; for each is worthy of the other.

Receipts from customs from the 17th to 22d, inclusive, were 3,985,655.

Perry Fuller entered his bond of 100,000 dollars as Collector for New Orleans. Leaves to-morrow.

NEW ORLEANS.

NEW ORLEANS, August 27.—Yesterday resolutions were offered in the House similar to those of the Senate on Tuesday, calling for a Committee of Inquiry into charges effecting the official integrity of the Governor and certain members of the Legislature. The House refused to receive the resolutions, suspensions of the rules being necessary for their reception. To-day, under suspension of the rules for the purpose, McMillan, the leading Radical of the House, introduced a preamble and resolution, of which the following is the substance:

WHEREAS, The representative from the Tenth District, Parish Orleans, W. Pope Noble, on the twenty-sixth instant, asked leave to introduce a resolution inquiring into certain assumed rumors touching the integrity of the Governor, and

Whereas, The Times newspaper, to which said member is, or has been, attached, this morning gives publicity to the resolution sought to be introduced, and the unfounded charges therein contained; therefore be it

Resolved, That a Committee of Three be appointed to investigate this action of the member from the Tenth District, and if in the opinion of said committee he was prompted by malice and the desire to promote the interests of his political party by this unwarranted proceeding, that the said committee be, and is hereby instructed to present resolutions expelling said member from this body.

The ayes and nays were called for on the resolution, which was lost by 26 ayes to 38 nays, the Democrats, without exception, voting in favor of the committee of inquiry.

NORTH CAROLINA.

WILMINGTON, N. C., August 27.—The Democratic State Convention, which met at Dover yesterday, nominated Benjamin T. Briggs, of Newcastle, for Congress.

The following resolution, which was adopted by the State Convention in June, was again affirmed as one of the principles of the party:

Resolved, That the elective franchise is a political privilege, and not a natural right, and is to be granted or withheld by the several States to their respective inhabitants, as the free, sound judgment and discretion of each State shall deem for the public interest and welfare.

GEORGIA.

ATLANTA, August 27.—In the Senate to-day, the bill postponing the election in Savannah until the second Tuesday in December, was passed by a vote of 33 to 7. It also changes the number of ballot boxes to three. Campbell, a negro, was opposed to the postponement. He said if the ballot boxes were in one building, the negroes would have no chance to vote; and if not allowed to vote, would fight. He warned Senators to be careful how they act.

In the House, a long and warm discussion took place on the eligibility of negro members, and the right of negroes to hold office.

Mr. Tomblin, Democrat, said the question was one of vital importance to both races in Georgia. They are here consuming the people's money, and the action of the Legislature was clogged until the question was settled.

A motion to reconsider the minority was adopted—ayes 80, nays 53.

CUTTING AFFRAY.—Wm. Hunt, negro, was brought before Justice Walton yesterday, charged with having stabbed Hilliard Willis, a short time ago, in Panola county, Miss. The 'Squire, after an examination, remanded him to jail to await the requisition of the Governor of Mississippi.

THANKS.—To Edward Barinds, Esq., for a large box of the finest pears we have ever seen, and a quantity of fine peaches, all grown in the vicinity of Corinth.

Also, to B. Hart, Esq., Bartlett, for a package of very delicious grapes.

With the gratitude of several young ladies to both gentlemen, besides.

EMMONS & SON, as usual—Thursday—received, last night, New York Ledger, Chimney Corner, Sunday Times, Banner of Light, Boston Pilot, American Agriculturalist, for September; New York, Chicago, St. Louis, Cincinnati and Louisville dailies. Orders solicited from the country, by mail or express, for any paper or book—from one to a thousand—and promptly attended to.

CHEAP TRANSPORTATION.—The Memphis and Charleston Air Line is this year taking the lead in offering to our merchants rapid and cheap transportation from the East. Being the short line and therefore having the right to make the rates, it has reduced freights to very low figures. The "Air Line" is making uniformly fast time. Having interests wholly identified with our own, we but discharge our duty in the promotion of the public good, by commending it to the patronage of the mercantile community of our city. This we most cordially do, and trust the line may be liberally sustained the coming business season.

THE SOUTHERN HOTEL is the favorite stopping place for the planters of Mississippi, Arkansas and West Tennessee, the charges being reduced from $3 to $2 per day. The eating department is first rate, and the sleeping rooms and beds the best in the city. Free passes to and from Railroad Depots to planters, in City Railroad cars. The proprietors being old citizens, know how to please their country friends. Capt. J. E. Woolfolk, of Senatobia, will be found in the Hotel, and will be pleased to see his many friends. 20 gentlemen day boarders at $6 per week. Gentlemen may have rooms without board at $4 to $6 per week. Rates reduced from $3 to $2 per day. Steamboat and Railroad officers' patronage solicited. 1w

WRAPPING PAPER.—If you would save your money, go to Brown & Dillard's, Sole Agents, 214 Front street, and examine their stock. They have all grades of the finest article Wrapping Paper, and are selling below Cincinnati prices. jy29 1m

A COUNTRY MERCHANT IN A NEW ROLE.—A young man giving his name as Henry Floyd, and claiming to be a merchant of Pocahontas, was arrested yesterday by our efficient detective corps, at the Southern Hotel, on a charge of stealing clothing from rooms—or, in the parlance, "room beating." He had been under espionage and suspicion some time, and facts (which at the instance of the magistrate, for prudential reasons, we do not make public at present) have been developed since his arrest, showing that he is at the head of the business in the city, and has in all probability had a hand in most if not all of the robberies of that sort that have occurred of late. He was wearing, when arrested, a pair of stolen pants, and had on his person a forged check for $300, on a well known house in this city. 'Squire Griffith bound him over for further examination in the sum of $2000, in default of which he was sent to jail.

THE BENEFIT TO-NIGHT.—We know that the theater-going people of Memphis will be more than delighted to hear that our own little protege and favorite, little Katie Gilbert, has volunteered her services to swell the attractions of the entertainment to-night. This announcement alone, if it did not persuade the public to purchase tickets liberally, ought to shame their patriotism into doing so. We are pained to learn from the gentlemen who have taken the matter in hand, and who are giving their time and attention to making it a success, that that class who of all others ought to give, and give liberally, for they are best able to give, and they have everything at stake, are not responding as they should to the call thus made upon them. Gentlemen, this will not do. You must come forward now, and give your mite to the cause. If we are beaten in this struggle by your apathy and miserliness, you will have precious little to hold on to after the November election.

MEMPHIS, August 22, 1868.

DEAR SIR: Having tested your Mt. Carbon coal by burning the same for some time back, I am thoroughly convinced that it is a superior quality of coal and will give universal satisfaction. I have not had time to analize it, but believe, for all practical purposes, that it is as good as Pittsburg coal, and in many respects superior to it. It ignites readily, produces a fine flame, generates great heat, leaves little debris, and lasts as long as any coal I ever saw. I most heartily recommend its use, and congratulate the citizens of Memphis upon its introduction into her market, for the independence it creates against monopoly, and its consequent extortion. Its sale and use should be encouraged by our citizens on account of its contiguity and the readiness and facility with which it can be brought to our market, in order to place Memphis beyond the contingencies of frozen rivers, low water, and other causes that subjects her citizens to exhorbitant prices by reason of its scarcity and the great demand consequent upon such a state of affairs.

I am, respectfully,
[Signed] R. W. CREIGHTON, M. D.

THE DEMOCRACY.

Grand Mass-Meeting of the Party

All the Clubs of Shelby County in Line.

Banners, Mottoes, Flags, Transparencies, Etc., Etc.

Enthusiastic Procession of the People.

Ten Thousand Persons on the Ground.

Ever since the nomination of Seymour and Blair the Democratic masses of Shelby county have been alive to the great battle for constitutional liberty thus inaugurated, and feeling that not only their own, but the liberties of the people of all the South, and indeed the whole Union, depended upon the success of these candidates, they have been untiring in their efforts to reduce the Radical majority, and make it possible for intelligence, probity and honesty again to rule, not only the councils of the nation, but our own beloved Tennessee, our county, and our once flourishing city of Memphis. Nowhere, in all the broad domain of the United States, has the Democracy worked with greater unity, a more sterling determination, or so far, more thorough results. Opposed by a disgracefully corrupt Legislature and the most malignant of Governors, both shielding most venal officials—opposed by these, by these working with the prestige of past success and the purse strings of the State and county stretched to a tension—opposed to such as these the Democracy of Shelby county have not only thoroughly organized, but have worked, and so far succeeded in their work as that they are encouraged to believe in a complete triumph, that nothing, not even the calling out of the militia of the blasphemous Brownlow can prevent.

In every civil district of the county, in every ward in the city, there is a club organized—in many colored clubs, boasting a membership as large and influential in their way as those composed of white men. Leaders among the negro population, who heretofore have been acting with and working for the Radicals, are now to be found in the ranks of the Democracy, co-operating with their former masters, whom at last they are learning to look upon as their best friends. All classes, all elements of society contribute their quota to swell the grand aggregate of the party of the Constitution, the Union and the laws—the party of right, of justice and of truth.

How grandly the Democratic party of Shelby county and of Memphis, illustrated this unity, this effort, and the results to be reached, let the procession and mass meeting of last night answer. In thousands they mustered from every portion of the city. With trumpets and drums, and banners and flags, and all the stirring panoply of future triumph, they poured along our streets, making more pale the queen of night with their torches and transparencies, as the air was filled with their cheers, glad notes of a coming redemption. Memphis was herself again. As in times of former political ware, when the giants of our favored State met to contest the questions of the day, the first and best of our people graced the occasion, and lent the charm of an irresistable eloquence to make it memorable. Nothing was wanted, nothing was intermitted by the managers that could in any way detract from the glories of this first great movement of the party during the present campaign.

Precisely at eight o'clock the clubs were massed, and about half-past eight the march commenced in the following order:

1—Smith's old Memphis Brass Band.
2—First Ward Club.
3—Second Ward.
4—Third Ward.
5—Fourth Ward.
6—Fifth Ward.
7—Sixth Ward.
8—Seventh Ward.
9—Eighth Ward.
10—Ninth Ward.
11—Tenth Ward, No. 1.
12—Tenth Ward, No. 2.
13—Young Men's Independent Democratic Club.
14—Boatmen's Club.
15—Young Men's Independent Seymour Democratic Club.
16—Greenwood Club.
17—Central Democratic Club Shelby County.
18—Paving (colored) Club, with wagons and torches.
19—Colored Clubs of the City and County.
20—Omnibuses of Memphis City Transfer Company.
21—Citizens in Carriages.

The following gentlemen (mounted) acted as officers of the procession:

Grand Marshal—Col. W. F. Taylor, red sash.

Assistant Marshals—M. G. Pendergrast, C. C. Clay, E. L. Hamlin and H. U. Warriner, with blue sashes. Also, the Presidents of each Club.

The following was the line of procession: Down Second street to Madison, up Madison to Main, thence to Beal, thence to Hernando, out Hernando to Elliott, along Elliott to Hernando road, thence to the intersection of Lauderdale, opposite the residence of Col. R. F. Looney, where the mass meeting was held, the clubs, white and colored, forming a circle around the speakers stand, where already the officers of the meeting were awaiting their arrival. They were:

President—Col. D. K. McRae.

Vice Presidents—The President of each club.

Secretary—Harvey Mathes.

Assistant Secretaries—Reporters of the Democratic press.

Committee of Arrangements—H. D. Bulkley, Chairman, C. L. Partee, Tillman Bettis, Philip Tuggle, Dr. Pittman, S. M. Guest, A. A. Burleson, Capt. Jos. Lenow, Thomas Tuggle, D. H. Poston, Joseph Teufel, Wm. McKinney, Charles S. Collins.

The following were the announced speakers of the occasion, but owing to want of time only those spoke, whose remarks are given below: Gen. Albert Pike, Col. M. C. Gallaway, John W. Leftwich, W. W. Vaughn, W. H. Stephens, J. T. Trezevant, R. J. Morgan, Duncan McRae, T. W. Brown, George Gantt, Gerald L. Griffin, L. S. Marye, Gen. N. B. Forrest, Gen. P. Anderson, W. T. Avery.

THE GROUNDS.

A large stand had been erected in the center of the space in front of Col. Looney's residence, on the Hernando road, seats being provided for two thousand persons. The stand was elegantly festooned and adorned with Chinese lanterns, transparencies, banners, etc., "Welcome to all" in large letters greeting the eye at each end. A large American flag was suspended from a couple of trees in front of the stand.

Before the arrival of the procession on the ground, the seats were filled with ladies and gentlemen of the neighborhood, and many who had arrived from other portions of the city.

The procession, with its hundreds of torches and transparencies, music, etc., presented a glorious sight as it rounded the speaker's stand, the bands playing, and the vast concourse of people cheering with the wildest enthusiasm—surpassing anything of the kind that has been seen in Memphis for many years. On the arrival of the officers on the stand, the band played the "Star Spangled Banner," at the conclusion of which Col. Looney, in behalf of the Greenwood Club, welcomed the members from the various clubs in a short speech that was well received. His reference to the triumph of Seymour and Blair was greeted with enthusiastic cheers.

A letter from Hon. J. W. Clapp, who was to have delivered an address of welcome, was received, in which he excused himself from being present on account of illness, but said his heart was with the meeting.

Col. McRae, President of the meeting, was then introduced, and made a characteristic speech. He said that at the present time Presidents and would-be Presidents made short speeches, and he would be in the fashion. The vast assemblage before him he considered but a photograph of the great Democratic party, which was rising in its might all over the country, but especially North of the Potomac. He referred to the rumor of Grant's withdrawal, and said that he was satisfied that he would not withdraw, in proof of which he gave the well known story of Ulysses and the bull, as told by Grant's father, in illustration of the tenacity of purpose of his hopeful son. It was said by the Radicals that Grant would walk over the course. He thought so, too, but Seymour would be running and would leave his opponent far behind. The speaker closed with a few remarks to the colored people. For, said he, we are all colored, some white, some black, some scarlet with sin—carpet baggers, who would look mighty blue after the election. He handled the Freedmen's Bureau quite roughly, and showed that if the money expended in the Bureau had been expended for land and mules, many of the colored people would have been supplied, instead of being disappointed with the promises of the Radicals. He paid his respects to Frank Richards, Tom Hamilton, and the other members of the Tennessee Legislature, and said that Hamilton might well say to his colored friends:

"The rose is red, the violet's blue,
Sugar is sweet, and so are you."

Col. Gallaway being called for, came forward and said that he did not see why they should call on him for a speech, for his friends knew that he could not speak. The only man he could beat making a speech was U. S. Grant. However, he would introduce his brother-in-law, B. B. Barker, who was one of the proprietors of the Avalanche, and would represent that paper in the speaking line.

Mr. Barker came forward and said that the call on him was unexpected, and he felt embarrassed at addressing so many strangers, although he recoguized all Democrats as his friends. He said that his occupation for years had been to elevate the colored people, and he intended to particularly address them—to go to every Ward Club and give them words of advice. For, like it, or like it not, we had to get colored votes, and should make the most of it, in order to defeat the carpet-baggers, etc.

Col. W. H. Stephens being introduced, delivered an able address, which we regret our inability to refer to at length. He handled the political issues of the day in an able manner, and called upon the ladies to use their influence in stimulating the gentlemen to exert themselves to secure the election of Seymour and Blair.

He was followed by Hon. John W. Leftwich, who alluded to the position in which he was placed as the candidate of the Democratic people of this district, to represent them in the next Congress. He firmly believed that he would be elected, and would take his seat with a working Democratic majority in Congress, and hoped that ere another election was held, every man would be entitled to vote, and any convention nominate whomsoever they chose, regardless of his past history. He referred to his course in the past few years—how painful it was for him to differ from his many friends, etc., and closed his remarks amid the cheers of the audience.

Hon. Mr. Jones, of Iowa, formerly U. S. Senator, was introduced, and made a short speech. He said that Iowa and the great Northwest were fast throwing off the chains of Radicalism, and he felt confident that in November they would vote for Seymour and Blair. He had felt the stings of Radicalism, having been incarcerated in Fort Lafayette by W. H. Seward, because his sons came South, and he hoped and believed the day was about to dawn that that corrupt party was to be hurled from power. In conclusion, Mr. Jones stated that he did not come South to make speeches, but to attend the wedding of his son, who was to be married to one of Tennessee's fair daughters on Monday next. On his return, however, he could tell his friends of this great demonstration, and how the people of the South were working to be free from their shackles, in spite of all they had to contend with.

Orville Yerger next came forward and made a few remarks, and was followed by Col. R. J. Morgan, who delivered a short and sensible address. At its conclusion Col. Douglass, with a huge boquet, came forward, and in behalf of many ladies presented it to Col. McRae, at the same time delivering a flowery speech that was well received.

Col. McRae accepted the boquet, and returned thanks in a few choice sentences, and said that as his wife was absent he would present it to a lady who had taken hold of the editorial pen and stood up for liberty when her husband was incarcerated in jail—Mrs. Gallaway.

An invitation to be present at the New Memphis Theater this evening, at the benefit for the Central Democratic Club was then read, after which Colonel McRae dismissed the meeting, the various clubs marching homeward with their banners, music, transparencies and torches, in the best of humor.

The demonstration last night was undoubtedly the largest outpouring of the people that has been seen in the city before or since the war—fully ten thousand persons being on the ground. The best of order was maintained, every face beeming with good humor, and each eye sparkling with hope and enthusiasm for the great cause in which all lovers of freedom are interested.

It is not our wish to oppress any one with a suit for amounts due us for paving. We are willing to make any reasonable arrangements with those who wish to pay. All who desire to do so can make any reasonable and reliable arrangements for payment by calling at the office of the Company from 8 to 10 o'clock a.m., and thus avoid suit.

DISEASED CATTLE.

Our Markets---What May be Had There.

As the sale of diseased meat is now attracting attention in Cincinnati, Chicago, St. Louis, New York and other cities, and as we, of Memphis, are not exempt from liability to be subject to the like treatment, we publish the subjoined communication, in the hope that it may compel the attention of our authorities to a matter that if smothered in its incipiency may save us much disease and perhaps death. Here is the letter. Read it:

Editors Memphis Appeal:

We see in the newspapers of Northern cities, great excitement about the cattle plague, prevailing with the beef cattle brought from Texas and other parts of the West to supply the city markets and the people with meats, etc. We are informed by those who are well posted in the premises, that these matters now demand the serious attention of the city authorities and people of Memphis.

Texas cattle are being bought and slaughtered here for Memphis people to eat, which would not be permitted to enter any city North of this. The safety of our home cattle and those brought from Kentucky and surrounding countries, as well as the health of our citizens, demands prompt and vigorous attention to the question of "what meats are we bringing in market?"

We ask for the public good that attention be called to this matter through your valuable paper.

PRO BONO PUBLICO.

AMUSEMENTS.

—We were favored with a call yesterday afternoon from Joe Gaylord, Esq., the well known and popular manager and business agent of Skiff & Gaylord's Minstrels. He has just arrived in the city, and is making the necessary preparations for the advent of that troupe. By reference to our advertising columns it will be seen that they will favor us with some of their exquisite and inimitable performances in a few days—the 5th proximo being the day set for their appearance.

—John Robinson's circus continues to be the unabated subject of conversation among, not only the juveniles and the usual circus going class of our people, but with everybody. We took a stroll through the pavilion yesterday, when the afternoon performance was going on, and also last night, and were really surprised and pleased, not so much at the number, but at the class of those who had flocked thither "to see the show." During a few minutes stay we saw and shook hands with no less than a dozen grave fathers and matrons of our best families, with whom we are acquainted. Of the performance nothing can be said except in terms of unequivocal praise. Where all is so good it would seem invidious to make mention of any particular one, but we cannot refrain from speaking in the highest terms of the bareback riding of Miss Cordelia. The vaulting gymnastic feats and equestrianism of Mr. J. M. Kelly, and Mr. Ashton and sons, are beyond all praise. Go and see them by all means.

After his engagement here is finished, we are informed that Mr. Robinson intends exhibiting his great show at Hernando on the 31st, Batesville on the 1st, Oakland on the 2d, and Grenada on the 3d of September.

Mountain High!

From the Frankfort Yeoman.]

When we speak of the public debt as being "mountain high," we but faintly present the reality.

Let us illustrate: The highest mountain in the world is a peak of the Himalaya Mountains, in India, which reaches the altitude of 28,178 feet, or a little less than 5½ miles.

The public debt of the United States according to the official statement of the Secretary of the Treasury, amounted, on the first of the month, to the sum of $2,523,534,489. Now, let us, for illustration, suppose this debt to be one dollar bills, and piled up before us. Do you imagine it would reach "mountain height?" Let us see:

Allow one hundred notes to the inch, and we have its height to be.....25,235,344.....inches!

or.....2,102,945.....feet!!
or.....720,981.....yards!!! or.....398.....miles!!!!

or, if the notes were of the denomination of $100 instead of $1, we should have a pyramid of money reaching about four miles high! whilst the highest mountain peak in North America (Mount St. Elias, in Russian America) is but 17,900 feet, or less than 3½ miles.

Still further: let us suppose the debt to be in silver instead of in notes, and estimating $16 to the pound, we have a weight of debt amounting to just 157,720,905 pounds! or 9857 car loads (at 16,000 pounds to the car), which would make a train of cars of fifty-six miles in length, allowing but thirty feet to the car!

We present these illustrations because we would, if possible, arouse the people to an appreciation of the magnitude of the monster mountain hight and mountain weight of debt which is crushing the life from a struggling Republic.

If the picture presented above is a pleasant one, you will sustain the Radical party; for that organization promises not only to preserve this grand mountain of debt, but to add mile upon mile to its column as the months roll on. Last month the addition was $13,900,000, or two miles in hight, or 812,500 pounds in weight, or 50 car loads, making a train of 500 yards in length, according to the foregoing estimates. The increased grandeur of this little mountain, one year hence, with Radicals still in power, can be estimated by multiplying the figure last above by twelve. Thanks to the good sense of the American people, however, they must turn over, on the 4th of March next, to the Democracy. Then we shall, by rigid economy and honesty, dig down the mountain, instead of piling it higher and higher.

Our Latest Improved
NEW SCALE PIANO-FORTE.
GROVESTEEN & CO.,
499 Broadway, N. Y.,

THESE instruments, after the most flattering testimonials from the first Pianists in the country, who, at our solicitation, have tested them in the severest manner possible, have been pronounced THE FINEST SQUARE PIANO-FORTE MADE IN THE WORLD.

It has always been our policy, during the thirty-six years that we have manufactured Pianos, twelve thousand of which are now in use in the United states and Europe, to give the finest instrument at the lowest cost. Our superior facilities enable us to offer them from one to three hundred dollars less than any other First Class House.

The tone of these instruments are remarkable for their peculiar Sweetness and Great Brilliancy, never losing their quality when forced to their utmost capacity. The lower register retaining its positiveness, does not destroy the middle and upper registers by mingling with them in disagreeable confusion, the refined beauty of tone being equally delightful to the unpractioned and to the most cultivated ear.

They are an entirely new style of Piano, finished in the most superb manner, with four full round corners front and back, heavily carved legs and Lyre Serpentine Base richly moulded, and each instrument is fully warranted for five years. sep6 dawly

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

OFFICE OF THE DAILY APPEAL, MEMPHIS, August 27, 1868.

There was no movement of any kind in financial circles to-day, save the offering of 500 shares Memphis and Charleston Railroad stock at 53¼c, but 53c was the best bid received. Other stocks and bonds are scarce and quotations are the same as last given by us.

Exchange remains steady—offerings and demand are about equal and shipments of currency are becoming rare. Eastern sight is taken at par to ¼ premium; selling at ½ to ¾ premium.

City Scrip is in fair demand at 71@72c buying. Brokers are not disposed to sell under 78@80c.

County Warrants are firm at 52@53c buying; selling at 55@56c.

Police Scrip firm; buying at 75@76c; selling at 80c.

The project of uniting Lake Huron and Lake Ontario bids fair to be a reality. Able engineers have decided that the work is feasible, and that it will not cost more than $40,000,000. It was proposed to raise $20,000,000 of this in the United States, and $20,000,000 in England. These loans were to be secured by a grant of 10,000,000 acres of land by the Canadian Government. Mr. Frederick Capreol, of Toronto, has undertaken the financial management of the enterprise. Some time ago he succeeded in obtaining guarantees from American capitalists that they would furnish $20,000,000 if the balance should be subscribed in Europe and the land grant secured. For several months he has been in England, and it is said that his prospect of success in securing the other $20,000,000 are very satisfactory. When that is secured it will only be necessary to obtain the land grant before work can be commenced.

The New York Herald of the 23d says:

There is no change to note in the condition of the money market, loans being made freely at four per cent on mixed collaterals, with a few exceptional transactions for small amounts at five, while some of the leading dealers in Government securities are still enabled to borrow largely at three and three and a half per cent. The statement of the associated banks of this city for the week ending to-day reflects the active drain of currency westward which has been going forward during the week, the changes being even more marked than they were in the previous return. The deposits show a decrease of $7,125,682, the legal tender notes of $3,177,836, loans of $2,562,837, and the specie of $3,185,169, while in the circulation there is an increase of $23,540.

Cotton Market.

The market continues bare. Only one bale received. There was no particular inquiry, and aside from two bales of low middling sold last evening at 27c, we learned of but one transaction—three of ordinary at 24½c.

In Liverpool cotton was buoyant but less active, sales being 15,000 bales at 11d for uplands, and 11½d for Orleans.

In New York holders sought an advance of ¼@¼c at the close, which buyers were willing to pay; and at the close the market was brisk at yesterday's rates—uplands 30½c; Orleans 31c; sales 1500 bales.

BUCKEYE SALVE

—FOR THE—

CURE OF EVERY FORM

—OF—

HEMORRHOIDS OR PILES

WHETHER OF LONG STANDING OR RECENT origin, internal or external, whether attended with Prolapsus, Hemorrhage or obstruction, and all by

External Application,

No internal adjuvants being required in any case, only to regulate the bowels, if constipated, or in Diarrhea and Dysentery.

The PILES, while astonishingly prevalent in the various forms known as all classes of both sexes, are, at the same time, the most distressing, frequently dangerous, and hitherto most difficult of cure.

Persons who suffer any length of time with the Piles generally try everything they can learn of purporting to cure the disease, yet is also no permanent advantage therefrom. They have been told professionally, perhaps, there was "no permanent cure for Piles," and consequently have despaired of any future cessation from pain and suffering.

To all such a SPECIFIC is offered for their relief. The

is a strictly scientific combination of well known remedial agents, and the proprietors have no hesitation in saying the BUCKEYE SALVE is the

ONLY INFALLIBLE SPECIFIC

Ever discovered for that disease, and which cures by outward application only, and that in time to come, as in the past, it will stand the test of trial without a failure, is performed all the proprietors claim for it, if the directions are attended to.

A large number of gentlemen throughout the country of high character and influence have voluntarily attested to its efficacy in their own cases, not from hearsay, and whose certificates may be seen by reference to the publications.

The proprietors will forward to any address one bottle, postpaid, on receipt of the retail price, $1 00 per bottle.

A Liberal Discount to Druggists and Dealers in Medicine.

COTTON GINS

Pratt's Southern Made Cotton Gin

THIS GIN is regarded by planters who have used it, as the best cotton gin in the market, picking the seed clean and light draught. Planters cultivating bottom lands are requested to examine the Eureka Gin at Farrington & Howell's, 268 Front street. It will pay for itself in ginning fifty bales. A. N. Gunnison, manufacturer of the Steel Comb Gin before the war but now a planter, gives the following certificate:

"MEMPHIS, TENN., January 31, 1868.

"I take pleasure in recommending to planters cultivating Cotton on bottom lands of the Mississippi, Arkansas, White and St. Francis rivers, the Eureka Gin, made by Daniel Pratt, of Alabama. This Gin separates the lint, bolls, etc., from the Seed Cotton, makes a good sample, and is superior to any other Gin for bottom lands. I have used one myself on a farm in Washington county, Miss., and it operates well and gives entire satisfaction in every respect. A. N. GUNNISON."

Orders for Gins, from 40 to 80 saw, and Belting, at Factory Prices, addressed to the care of FARRINGTON & HOWELL, 268 Front street, Memphis, promptly filled. Presses and Gearing put up, and Gins repaired by a skillful Gin wright. G. W. TRUHEART,
